

TV 'Switchboard in Sky' Now Orbiting Earth

Telstar Opens Era of Global Space Stations

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — The United States successfully rocketed the world's first international communications satellite, Telstar, into orbit today in an effort to open a new era of global radio and "live" television.

★ ★ ★ Telecast From Space Set Tonight

NEW YORK (UPI) — American television viewers tonight may be able to see the first telecast ever relayed from space.

Both live and taped transmissions are planned from the Andover, Maine, ground station to the Telstar satellite orbiting the earth. Telstar will send the telecasts back to a ground receiver and — if quality is good enough — the transmissions will be made available to the TV networks for instantaneous showing on home sets.

ABC, CBS and NBC television networks all announced special programs on the Telstar launching at 7:30 p.m. 4:30 p.m. PDT. They will include the transmissions if possible.

NEWS in BRIEF

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market greeted news of a Federal Reserve Board cut in margin requirements today with a surge of big-block trading and rising prices.

Trading, much of it in multi-thousand share chunks, ran to a volume estimated at 1,790,000 in the first hour. Levels of averages used to indicate the price ranges jumped sharply.

NEVADA TEST SITE (UPI) — Adverse weather conditions forced postponement today of a scheduled shallow underground nuclear explosion powerful enough to create a fireball effect.

Hi-Desert Supper Club Hit by Blaze

TWENTYNINE PALMS — Fire swept through the Hi-Desert Supper Club early today completely destroying the popular restaurant and a loss estimated in excess of $50,000.

Fire Chief Howard Anderson estimated that the fire had been under way for 45 minutes before the alarm was turned in. Anderson said flames had broken through the roof before the first truck arrived.

Indications are that faulty wiring may have caused the blaze, but an investigation was under way today Anderson said. The restaurant, located on 29 Palms Highway, had just closed for the summer. It was owned by Jimmy Williams.

Two engine companies and a tanker with 14 volunteer firemen fought the flames, but were unable to save any part of the building. The restaurant first opened in 1937 and over the years had brought many famed entertainers to the Hi-Desert.

BASKING OFFICIALS SAY:

Another Pacific Blast Imminent

HONOLULU (UPI) — Officials of U.S. Task Force 8, basking in the rosy glow of their record 400-mile high hydrogen blast over Johnston Island, indicated today that another detonation in the current Pacific test series is imminent at Christmas Island.

There was no official announcement, but the Federal Aviation Authority advised airmen to stay clear of the Christmas Island area effective 11 o'clock HST Monday night (5 a.m. EDT Tuesday).

The 170-pound moonlet began a wide-swinging journey around earth within 10 minutes after its launching at 4:35 a.m. EDT aboard a three-stage Delta rocket.

Circling earth every two hours and 20 minutes as a "switchboard in the sky," Telstar was expected to bring a future in which radio and "live" television programs will be relayed around the world by space stations.

The $1 million satellite, owned by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and proposed by a scientist who writes science fiction stories, was launched by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration at a fee of $2.7 million. It is considered one of the most significant advances in communications since the invention of the telephone 86 years ago.

The Federal Space Agency confirmed that "the Telstar communications satellite is in orbit."

Close To Planned Orbit

In Washington, NASA said the orbit achieved by Telstar appeared to be almost exactly the planned one. The intention was to send the satellite into a path ranging from about 600 to 3,500 miles in distance from the earth. It was to complete a circuit every 160 minutes.

Preliminary rough calculations indicated the spacecraft was circling the globe every 157.3 minutes in an orbit ranging in altitude from 593 miles at the low point to 3,502 at the high. The angle of inclination to the equator was 44.7 degrees, compared to a planned inclination of 45.

It was the 10th straight successful launch by NASA's Delta rocket.

The dream of a Bell Telephone Co. scientist who writes science fiction, the 170-pound electronic marvel is considered one of the most important advances in communications since the invention of the telephone 86 years ago.

Telstar is the forerunner of satellites which may bring the thrill of an Olympics event in Tokyo, the beauty of a Bolshoi ballet in Moscow or the pageantry of a king's coronation in Europe direct and "live" to American television screens, and open unlimited circuits for ocean-spanning business and personal telephone calls — within three or four years.

AT&T Pays Bill

American Telephone and Telegraph Co. (AT&T) paid for Telstar's construction, then forked out $2.7 million to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) to launch it.

The space rocket tore into the inky blackness of space and sent its delicate payload thundering toward an orbital speed of about 16,000 miles per hour.

Scientists said Telstar should circle earth once every two hours and 20 minutes as a sort of "switchboard in the sky" to give a spectacular test to theories proposed by Dr. John R. Pierce, a Bell Telephone Laboratories scientist who writes science fiction stories in his spare time.

City Councilmen Give OK On $10 Million Desert Inn

BUSINESSMEN and interested citizens jammed the Palm Springs City Council chamber last night as hearings got under way on the controversial multi-story building plans for the proposed new Desert Inn. Even the hallway at the entrance was filled and most stayed through more than three hours of debate. Councilmen in the foreground are Ted McKinney, left, vice mayor, and Harry Paisley. Plan Approved After 3 Hours Of Controversy

By PEYTON CANARY

Palm Springs City Councilmen last night voted a multi-storied motion giving George Alexander tentative authority to proceed with his $10 million multi-storied Desert Inn plans, plus commercial shop areas.

The 6-1 action, taken near midnight before a packed council audience after three hours of controversy, left most council members doubtful about the adopted motion's practical value. City Attorney Jerry Bunker pointed out that the council action was dependent on unresolved planning commission stipulations.

Zone Changes

The council's action included strongly-qualified zone changes for the proposed shopping development along the planned mall. The council action confirmed the city planning commission's resolution of approval — including all five qualifications — and added three new stipulations.

First, the zoning approval tentatively given is subject to the final outcome of the development as a whole. The second stipulation by motion author Earle Strebe calls for a planning study of closing the mall from Palm Canyon Drive, with vehicular access from Tahquitz-McCallum Way and Andreas Road. The third condition adds employee parking in the service areas of the project.

'Open End'

Councilman Earle Strebe described his motion as "open end," and quickly conceded that the ordinance the council instructed Bunker to prepare for later adoption would leave wide avenues for councilmanic change or rejection.

Alexander termed the council action an indication of "sincerity" and said that if the planning commission recommendations were adopted as they were, "we'll take our chances." Alexander asked for close liaison between city planners and the Charles Luckman and Associates architects who are preparing detailed plans which are expected to be readied within a month.

Sharp Opposition

Sharp opposition to the Alexander application — despite dependency on high-rise standards yet to be evolved — came from Palm Canyon Drive businessman Ben Blank, who presented a petition signed by 282 people opposing the commercial zone change, and property owners Henry Frank and Paul W. Brody.

Blank emphasized his group was not against the high-rise building, but said the proposed shopping facilities would "risk destroying Palm Canyon Drive."

★ ★ ★ City Tables High-Rise Standards

High-rise building standards for Palm Springs, recommended by the city planning commission, were tabled by the city council last night for possible revision studies.

The entire high-rise concept was opposed by veteran resident Isadore Eisen, who urged the council not to "change the topography of Palm Springs. Eisen called for a November city vote on the issue.

Planning consultant Herman Ranes, former city planning director, told the council he was a high-rise proponent, but questioned the conditional use permit and variance approach to high-rise buildings evolved by the planning commission.

Ranes questioned the value of balcony requirements on commercial high-rise buildings, and emphasized that the 50 per cent site landscaping requirement would force all buildings into the center of the sites. The planner said the requirement would force building placement without regard for site topography, or adjoining usage.

BULLETIN

Reduction in the Palm Springs city tax rate to $1.99 per $100 valuation — down from the 1961-62 $2.04 rate — was virtually assured this morning by councilmanic adoption of the $2,061,965 1962-63 operating budget evolved during the past month.

The council action, taken in adjourned session, was a hold-over on last night's agenda.

Agreement Sought by Algerians

ALGIERS (UPI) — Premier Ben Youssef Ben Khedda made a strong bid at home for public support of his regime today and in Morocco his emissaries sought reconciliation with dissident Vice Premier Mohammed Ben Bella.

Ben Khedda told a Municipal Stadium rally here Monday night that his moderate, pro-Western government is the "only authority in Algeria" and "all Algerians ought to recognize it."

Morocco's King Hassan II, who aided the Algerian nationalists in their seven-year war against France, appeared to be the best hope of bringing the two feuding factions together.

May See Hassan

Ben Bella is in the Moroccan capital of Rabat and this would give him an opportunity to talk with Hassan today.

Ben Khedda's information minister of state, Ribah Bitat, were dispatched to Rabat Sunday to see if there was any ground for reconciliation with Ben Bella.

There was no report on the progress of their talks but informed sources said Ben Khedda's emissaries were equipped with concrete offers.

They said Ben Khedda appeared ready to reinstate the dismissed general staff of the National Liberation army (ALN) — supporters of Ben Bella — and to appoint Ben Bella to a committee that would oversee selection of candidates for the forthcoming constituent assembly.

Nikita Calls for New Troop Deal in Berlin

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev called today for replacement of Western Allied troops in West Berlin with a six-nation force of NATO and Warsaw Pact troops. He said nothing about removing Soviet troops from East Berlin.

In a long speech before the Communist-sponsored so-called "World Congress for General Disarmament and Peace," Khrushchev proposed establishment of a force under United Nations command of Norwegian, Danish, Belgian, Dutch, Polish and Czechoslovakian troops. The first four are members of NATO, the latter two members of the Soviet-run Warsaw Pact.

The Berlin proposal was something of a surprise, although his address in the Kremlin Palace of Congresses had been expected to touch major issues of the East-West cold war.

Khrushchev also told the 2,000 delegates that the danger of a sudden incident setting off World War III was genuine. He said all "mankind may be drawn into it if determined measures are not taken."

His disarmament proposals represented nothing new. But his call on Berlin was seen immediately by informed observers as an apparent shift in the Soviet position. Previously, the Communists have called for replacement of the Big Three Western garrisons by United Nations or neutral troops.

State Department Press Officer Lincoln White said Khrushchev's Berlin proposal was put forward privately in Soviet-American negotiations some time ago. The Kremlin was told at the time that the idea "does not provide a satisfactory basis for negotiation," White said.

California Crime Rate In Decrease

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California's crime rate decreased slightly last year, but it was not enough to offset a general rise since the end of World War II.

In a report released Monday, Fred A. Knoles, head of the Bureau of Criminal Statistics, said that the decrease amounted to 1.4 per cent between 1960 and 1961.

The improvement was due entirely to a lower crime rate in Los Angeles County, where a 3.9 per cent decrease was noted. This was sufficient to overcome a 2.5 per cent average rise in the rest of the state.

Knoles said the crime rate is based on the number of felonies reported in seven major categories: Wilful homicide, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, grand theft — except auto — auto theft and forcible rape.

The felony reports are distinguished from felony arrests, which are much less frequent.

Knoles said that major felonies reported in 1961 totaled 257,129, or a rate of 1,563.6 per 100,000 population. This compared with a rate of 1,585.7 per 100,000 in 1960. Felony arrests last year totaled 100,015.

He said that the state changed its crime statistic computation system in 1954, making accurate comparisons with earlier years impossible.

Steel for Tram Tower Is Delivered

Structural steel that will go into the first of five giant towers to support the Mt. San Jacinto Aerial Tramway now is being delivered to the construction site in Chino Canyon.

The first load, 22 tons, arrived yesterday and before the $7.7 million tramway is completed 263 tons of steel will be hauled, lifted and dragged up the mountainside.

A second 25-ton load was due today. T. T. McKenzie, project engineer, said erection will not start until complete components for the first tower have been delivered.

East Branch Aqueduct Urged by DHS Agency

Construction of the east branch of the Feather River Aqueduct simultaneously with the west branch will be asked of the state by the Desert Water Agency.

A letter to establish the economic need for such a program and urging early approval was authorized by the agency's board of directors this morning.

The east branch of the aqueduct is the only means of getting the northern water imports close enough to this area to permit local use unless a trade can be arranged to give the desert area access to Colorado River water from the Metropolitan Water District aqueduct.

The action followed formal steps to consolidate the Desert Hot Springs County Water District into the Desert Water Agency for joint action on negotiations for Feather River Water. Annexation was approved by the Desert Hot Springs voters in last month's election.

New York Stocks at Closing

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks lost more than half their early gains today as trading quieted in the final hours.

High speed tickers, as far as 29 minutes behind the floor when the market was near its best levels, caught up at around 1:45 p.m. and had little trouble maintaining the pace thereafter as prices eased.

Among the blue chips, many of which were up better than 2 points at their highs, only American Telephone, Anaconda, General Foods, Woolworth which reported a 7 per cent climb in its semi-annual sales, Allied Chemical and DuPont, salvaged gains of around a point. Some pivots turned fractionally lower, notably Kodak.

JFK Agrees

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy has given tongue-in-cheek agreement to former President Eisenhower's claim that the Republican party is the party of business. Asked Thursday whether he agreed with the Eisenhower statement, Kennedy said "I dislike disagreeing with President Eisenhower so I won't be in this case."

Spa Man in Appeal for Volunteers

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A call has gone out from Lionel Steinberg of Palm Springs, vice president of the state Board of Agriculture, for volunteers to take part in a Peace Corps program in the 2,000-mile-long San Francisco River Valley of Brazil.

Steinberg, who is assisting Peace Corps recruiting, said 13 volunteers are needed, including 89 agricultural specialists and workers with training or experience in agriculture, forestry and home economics.

Volunteers will be trained in on-the-job skills and the Portuguese language as well as the culture of Brazil. Steinberg says a knowledge of Portuguese would be helpful but not essential.

Volunteers must be American citizens, at least 18 years old with at least a high school education. Married couples are eligible, providing both qualify and they have no dependents under 18.

Reprieve in Strike on Building

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A strike against the Southern California building industry by the Teamsters Union today had a one-week reprieve despite a negotiation deadlock.

Representatives of four contractors' associations said two proposals were presented to the union bargaining committee Monday which the membership will vote on this week.

But the committee indicated it would reject both offers which include a 45-cent hourly hike over a three-year period, or a 63-cent an hour increase in three years omitting fringe benefits.

Earlier the committee backed a management proposal for 15-cent an hour boosts over a two-year period but the membership turned the offer down.

Union officials agreed to extend the old contract one week while voting and negotiations continue. "No progress" was made in negotiations between the International Association of Machinists and the United Aerospace Workers Union.

Cigaretts Stolen From Station

Mag manager S. J. Muscutt was advised and upon inspection determined the loss.

Hit-and-Run

Off-duty officer Jim Glauser witnessed a hit-and-run accident wherein a 1961 Ford, white with Texas plates, ran into a parked 1960 Goliath 2 door sedan. The accident occurred early this morning, no injuries and the violator being sought via an all points bulletin.

Final Hearings On Annexation In D.H.S. Today

DESERT HOT SPRINGS—Final hearing on annexation of approximately three-fourths of Section 17 here will be held by the Desert Hot Springs County Water District board at 7:30 p.m. today.

No opposition to the annexation is expected, Austin Finch, water district general manager reported. Finch explained the annexation was asked by property owners, who had originally petitioned Desert Water Agency for annexation.

The property owners had sought to forestall possible annexation by the Coachella Valley Water District, petitioners explained. The Desert Water Agency referred the landowners to the DHS County Water District.

Other agenda items will include the general manager's report for June, and reading of communications plus authorization of payment of district bills.

Attendance Important

POMONA (UPI)—Ernie R. Derho 19, Chino, today was serving a jail term on his plea of guilty to missing seven National Guard Reserve meetings.

Derho, a reservist assigned to Company A, 4th Medium Tank Battalion, was sentenced to 20 days in county jail, 10 of which were suspended. He also was placed on two years probation by Municipal Judge Roland B. Brownberger.

France and W. Germany In Accord

BONN (UPI)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said today France and West Germany agree neither will side against the other in reaching separate agreement with the Soviet Union.

Adenauer told one of his rare news conferences he and French President Charles de Gaulle agreed it is their special tasks to make this clear to the French and German peoples.

Reporting on his state visit to France last week, Adenauer said French-German reconciliation is complete. But he said he and De Gaulle agreed "such a relationship must not be limited to the governments."

"It must be self-understood by the people that one government cannot enter in a pact of any kind with Soviet Russia against the other country," he said.

GEMINI (Birthdays from May 21 to June 21)—Take care you don't run off after the ephemeral today or tonight, since there are serious matters to take care of. Be diligent. Show loyalty to co-workers, family.

MOON CHILDREN (Birthdays from June 22 to July 21)—Your intuition is apt to be erroneous now, so be sure you follow logic and data from reliable sources. Go after cherished goals in a positive manner. Be intelligent in social affairs tonight.

SCORPIO (Birthdays from Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—If you avoid any arguments with kin during morning hours, you find that a good friend will assist you in gaining some cherished goal. Make reservations for evenings early. Then have a ball.

SAGITTARIUS (Birthdays from Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Much care in driving or walking is necessary today and be sure you choose your words wisely. Don't tell a friend off—then this can be a day of progress. Delight in P. M.

CAPRICORN (Birthdays from Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—Concentrate on keeping in harmony with family and don't invest money in unwise venture, as you had planned. Get together with friends later. Enlarge circle of associates.

AQUARIUS (Birthdays from Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—Be philosophical if delays occur in any ventures you have planned. Take time to assist those who have so much less than you do. Do your civic duty, too, and increase prestige.

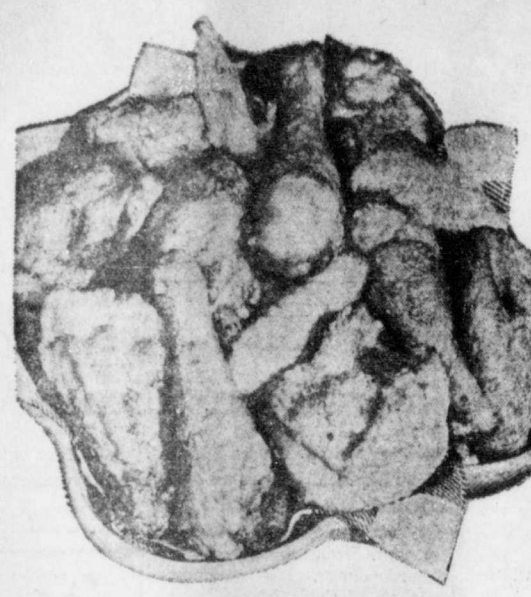

PISCES (Birthdays from Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)—You can become quite anxious over some unexpected situation in A. M., but don't let it floor you. Make progress later by confiding in new friends. They will cooperate happily.

Reserve Marines Begin Annual Training Camp

MARINE CORPS BASE, TWENTYNINE PALMS — The Ready Reserve Marines of Denver's 4th and 5th 155 millimeter Gun Batteries arrived at this Hi-Desert Missile Base to begin their annual summer reserve training.

The first few days here will find the Denver Marines cleaning rifles, shining shoes, and squaring they will be seen in dust clad Marine green utility uniforms training on the many desert firing ranges here.

The training of the Denver cannoners will not be limited to the gun itself, but motor transport men, administrative personnel, and the others who are not directly connected with the mighty 155mm cannon will be training in their own fields.

Los Angeles Tour

Their training here will not be all work and no play, but during the week-end after their arrival the Denver Leathernecks will be given the opportunity to visit the many beaches, the scenic views, and some of the many other recreational facilities here in Southern California as liberty call will be sounded for all hands.

A guided tour of the Los Angeles area will also be offered to the men by the Base. During the final phase of their rugged two-week training schedule, the Denver Reservists will conduct a live firing exercise with the 155's. They are expected to return home July 21.

The arrival of Pico Rivera's "D" Battery, 1st Battalion, 14th Marines, 4th Marine Division marked the beginning of the second phase of summer reserve training here.

Combat Gear

The men of the unit, complete with combat gear, went right to work squaring away their equipment and cleaning rifles as they prepared for the rugged training schedule ahead of them. Monday the Pico Rivera Leathernecks, clad in Marine green dungarees, fell out for training both in the classrooms and in the field.

The two-week training schedule during their summer training will take them to the extensive gun parks here at this Hi-Desert Base where they will learn maintenance, safety precautions, and various other phases of operation of their primary weapon, the 105 millimeter Gun. The radio men, truck drivers, and administrative personnel who are not connected with the gun itself will attend training in their specialized fields.

Although it will be a long hard two weeks, the Southern California Leathernecks will also have a chance to enjoy liberty the week-end after their arrival here.

Live Firing

The final phase of training for the unit will take them to the vast firing ranges at this Marine Corps Base, the world's largest, where all hands will join their talents to conduct a live firing exercise.

The unit is expected to return home July 22.

Close to 100 Newport, Rhode Island, Leathernecks or the 1st 155 millimeter Howitzer Battery, completed a long haul across the United States when they arrived at this Hi-Desert Missile Base to conduct their annual two weeks of summer Reserve training.

The Ready Reservists traveled farther than any one of the other units attending training here, but were just as ready, willing, and able as the rest when the time came to break out military gear and start preparing for the rugged training schedule ahead of them.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — Reynolds & Co. says this year, for the first time after a five year adjustment, the aluminum industry appears to be in a solid uptrend with production, shipments and consumption now running at an all-time high.

Barring a downturn in the overall economy, the growth trend in demand for aluminum is likely to continue, and this in turn should eventually solve the industry's pricing problems and result in a marked recovery in profits for domestic producers, Reynolds says in a new study.

It points out that the shares of the three leading domestic producers are now available at prices ranging from 16 to 20 times earnings. "At these levels, they are considered to offer not only attractive long-term growth potentials, but also near-term trading possibilities."

Benson B. Sloan of Harris, Upham & Co. says the market is now in an area of supply and his short-term trading index shows the "big board" to be in an overbought condition. He thinks a test of the 535 level in the industrial average may be in store, followed by a period of consolidation and a "summer rally" to 600-610 in the indicator.

Eldon A. Grimm of Walston & Co. feels the current market rally is a welcome development since 1) It will make most stockholders feel somewhat more prosperous and 2) The recovery will shore up securities held on borrowed money — in other words, no more loans are underwater, and there is no more forced liquidation of weakly-held stocks.

Martin Gilbert of Van Alstyne, Noel & Co. says he is looking for higher prices in the intermediate period ahead, and while there may be interruptions from time to time, "it seems to us that the market will continue its show of strength."

Freedom OF or Freedom FROM?

The United States Supreme Court has, in the course of its long history, handed down many decisions which have aroused a storm in the nation but none as far-reaching and long-lasting as the ruling involving prayer in the public schools.

Across the nation, the reaction is rising instead of receding.

Wise men have long said that it is futile and foolish to argue politics or religion. In the latter realm, a man's belief, or his lack of it, is ingrown and attempts to change him can only result in bitterness. That seems to have been proven again.

The first amendment to the Constitution of the United States (1791) establishes our freedoms, religion, speech, press and the right to assembly and religion is the first mentioned:

"Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof . . ."

This amendment most certainly provides for separation of church and state. It also abridges any laws "prohibiting the free exercise thereof." In other words, it firmly establishes freedom OF religion.

In the New York school case where the recitation of a voluntary, non-sectarian prayer was ruled unconstitutional, many are of the opinion that the high court confused the preposition and that the decision was on the side of "freedom FROM religion."

No child in the New York schools was forced to recite the prayer. It was entirely voluntary with no compulsion.

To many persons, the decision banning the prayer, was a prohibition of the "free exercise (religion) thereof."

This nation from its beginnings has been based on a belief in a Supreme Being. George Washington, the first president, frequently expressed that faith.

Each session of the Congress is opened with prayer. The Supreme Court itself does not meet to hand down its decisions without an opening prayer.

And what about the Oath of Allegiance to the Flag? Will the ruling ban its recitation in the schools because of the recent amendment which added the words "under God"?

Freedom of religion should mean what it says. A man can practice the faith of his preference or he can be a free-thinker with no religion at all in this nation without fear of intrusion of the law.

There is no case on record where anyone has refused to accept any United States money which bears the imprint "In God We Trust," though he be the most virulent non-believer.

The Supreme Court has always been credited as having the last word in this nation. In this case, it may not have. For the debate it has stirred up will far outlast those aroused by any of its other controversial decisions.

President Kennedy's solution, "let them pray at home," is of little help.

For 171 years the overwhelming majority of the nation has adhered to the concept of those who wrote the Bill of Rights wherein bars were erected against establishment of a state religion. The overwhelming majority still affirms its belief in freedom OF religion, not freedom FROM.

"We see where a Muskogee County, Oklahoma, judge has decided to retire because of welfare abuses. Judge J. F. Beavers, 'sick and tired of welfare abuses I have seen reflected in my court' was especially critical of aid-to-dependent-children cases in which he said mothers of illegitimate children are 'rewarded for their promiscuity.' Said Judge Beavers, 'these mothers were not interested in anything but getting on the relief roll . . . once someone gets on the relief roll, he or she never gets off. My philosophy of life doesn't go along with this 'give-away' trend of the times, so I felt it was time for me to leave public life.'"

"Wouldn't it be a big help in this day of socialism and give-away if more people shared Judge Beaver's views?"

"A whole cult has arisen in America which thinks it necessary to expend federal funds for all manner of purposes, from building our schools to cleaning up the trash in our back yards. They claim it is unnecessary even to attempt to balance the budget."

HOLMES ALEXANDER:

God and Man in the Cold War

WASHINGTON — Both adversaries of the Formosa Strait—Nationalist China vs. Red China—are too fatigued at the moment to score a knockout, but the starvation of each is of a different sort, and is highly significant. Red China, as everybody knows by now, has been victimized by bad crop weather and worse farm management.

Although it is now almost unconstitutional in America to refer to the hand of God (the Supreme Court holds that this country is separated from divine Providence and the Justices could conceivably outlaw Thanksgiving Day as a national political evidence of faith), it is tempting to compare the Chinese famine to the years of blight which helped liberate the Children of Israel from the Pharaohs of Egypt. Be that as it may, Nature and the warped human nature of Red leadership, have enfeebled Mainland China.

Made In America

But the emaciation of the Nationalists on Formosa has been of a different sort, and is strictly man-made; worse, it is American-made. The following figures, obtained from Fowler Hamilton's office in AID (Agency for International Development) will succinctly make the point.

In fiscal 1961, when the Kennedy administration was just taking control of foreign policy, the USA gave $43.2 million in what is called "supporting assistance" (meaning military assistance) to the government of Chiang Kai-shek. The total aid to Nationalist China in fiscal '61 was $108.3 million.

But in fiscal 1962, at this writing, the Kennedy administration, which is now in full command of foreign policy, gave not one cent in the military aid category of "supporting assistance." I have checked this with AID, with the Senate Foreign Relations committee, and tried to ask the President about it in his press conference of June 27th. Not only was military aid to Chiang cut to zero, but the administration and not by Congress, but the entire aid to Nationalist China was down to $67.9 million, an overall reduction of roughly $40 million.

Chiang Is Weakened

Now, this is a form of military starvation that weakens an anti-Communist ally on a gravely threatened front. The President has attempted to show that our policy in the Formosa area is "defensive," not materially changed from President Eisenhower's policy of holding the line there. But, in fact, the above figures provide a yardstick for measuring the strength of our posture on this battlefront against Red China. It is feeble, and Chiang is feeble, by $43.2 million of military resistance.

That isn't all. Last spring our ambassador to the Nationalist government, Everett Francis Drumright, a 30-year, anti-Communist veteran in China affairs, was mortified to find himself uninvited to the annual regional meeting of the Far East heads of missions, held near Manila. When Drumright inquired and found his exclusion to be deliberate, he resigned his ambassadorship with consequent loss of "face" and came home without the usual round of farewell parties that are accorded a well-liked diplomat.

Surprise Appointment

Drumright, who is part-Indian and a stoical person, kept his own counsel for awhile, but lately, he has told Washington friends the rest of the story. Still a State Department Foreign Service officer in good standing, he waited in vain for the usual call from the secretary of state or under secretary. At last, he pocketed his pride and called on Secretary Rusk, whom he used to know as assistant secretary for Far Eastern Affairs in the days of Ambassador - Secretary George C. Marshall, and asked about reassignment.

Drumright was told there was no place for him. The surprise appointment as ambassador to Taipei of the 74-year-old Admiral Alan Kirk, a fine patriot but long out of circulation, gave further evidence that the Kennedy administration has a change of policy toward Nationalist China—a policy of continued enfeeblement, reducing the pressure on Red China.

Thus, while destiny has smitten our enemy for us, we have responded by smiting our friend.

R. F. "Phat" GRAETTINGER

Now to examine
Some weird hieroglyphics
Stored up for the day
When no other thought clicks.

I call these scrawls on assorted scraps of paper "insurance notes." They are impaled on a spindle for the day which often comes, when no ideas jell and I can't just sit there and stare at the blank wall, you know. Besides, my face would be as blank as the wall and ill-disposed people wouldn't know I was just sitting, thinking.

ANYWAY, this is one of those days and the first note I reached for on a first come, first served, basis, was almost no good. It was on thin paper and torn. Which, in a way, was appropriate. It was about a fellow who wanted a campaign started to prohibit the sale of paper products which didn't tear where perforated.

"Look," he complained. "You buy paper that's supposed to come apart where it's perforated. Does it?"

HE WENT ON to say he'd purchased a roll of 100 4c stamps and put them in a little round can with a slot in the side to make them easier to get at and tear off, one at a time.

"But they don't. I carefully try to tear off one and I get one and a half. So I lose a stamp. The post office won't let me use them that way as 6c stamps. Unreasonable. Why don't paper tear where it's supposed to?"

THE NEXT NOTE, so recent it didn't have a spindle hole in it, was from Cathedral City.

"About that rubber-tired covered wagon that went through here the other day — it's a good thing they didn't use them in pioneer days," the man wrote.

"Can you picture a TV Western where the Indians did in the whole outfit because it had to stop to fix a flat?"

"P.S. Could you call that Apache raid?"

That's one I shouldn't have saved.

A BASEBALL FAN says he saw Roger Maris using an electric razor on a TV commercial.

"What's that going to do to the World Series?" he asked. "It used to be the fans were in a lather when the picture was on and the players, during the between-inning commercials. No lather and maybe no series."

Well, maybe our Angels will make it and there's always Albie Pearson. They won't need a lather commercial. He looks too small to shave.

ANOTHER NOTE is signed merely "Helen." She complains: "This unlimited parking is for the birds. Everybody has a place to park except the cash customers. We should walk blocks to spend our money? Huh!"

That's one reason parking meters were first installed here some 15 years ago. Too many tired bosses and clerks.

THE NEXT PIECE of paper was smallish, oblong and yellow. It wasn't a note although the markings were as weird as mine.

It had a big No. 6 and alongside was printed: "Cash if 1st only."

That's why I've still got it.

Dear Abby . . .

DEAR ABBY: I love to go to church but am having a terrible time deciding which one to join. I've attended the Catholic, Baptist, Methodist, Lutheran, Reformed Jewish and Presbyterian churches. They are all after me to join, but I can't make up my mind. Maybe I am wrong, but the man in the pulpit is more important to me than the religion itself. I just sit through the service so I can hear him talk. The Baptist Church has the best talker, but the Catholic services are more beautiful. Do you think I'm crazy? How can I decide?—LOVES CHURCH

DEAR ABBY: There is nothing "crazy" about attending church regularly, but you probably would feel better if you could embrace the doctrine and ritual of one church. One does not attend church to be "entertained"—but for spiritual guidance and tranquility. Talk to a few clergymen. This is something on which they all agree.

DEAR ABBY: My husband says that when he comes home from work I should meet him at the door and kiss him "hello." I say that he is the one who has been away all day, and he should come in, find me and kiss "me" hello. Who is right?—SMALL QUAREL

DEAR SMALL: (Small is right!) If that's all you two have to quarrel about, you are very fortunate. Why don't you two kids just meet each other half-way? How's the world treating you? For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to "Abby", care of this paper.

Poppy Pollen Adds Data To Studies of Life-Drive

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UPI) — Science now has added a third category to its ability to germinate and then maintain life in a test tube. The new category is that of the flowering plant. The old ones were of amphibians (such as the frog) and of fish.

This leaves the category of "higher" life, such as mammals, including man, to be conquered scientifically. So far science has succeeded only in stirring the beginning of mammalian life, including human life, in the test tube. The process has stopped after a few cell divisions.

The conquest of flowering plant life in the test tube was made by Kusum Kanta, N.S. Ranga Swamy and their internationally known professor, Dr. P. Maheshwari in the botanical laboratory of the University of Delhi, India.

They used a common flower of India, the opium poppy. Their starting materials were the ovules which are the plant equivalent of the ova or eggs produced by female mammals, and their male opposite numbers, pollen grains.

In Nutritional Broth

The ovules were excised from plants just after they had reached full bloom and before they could have been pollinated naturally. They were put into a nutritional broth in test tubes and then "dusted" with pollen grains from other poppies.

Within 15 minutes the pollen was germinating. Pollen tubes quickly developed and within two hours covered the surfaces of the ovules. In proof that fertilization had occurred, the ovules enlarged and changed in color and composition as they would have on the plant.

Ovules from a three-day-old culture showed a two-cell development when sectioned. They were on their way to producing embryos. After five days of culture, sectioned ovules revealed fully developed tissue with which to nourish embryos—and a four-cell division.

After 15 days, the embryos were differentiated into the characteristics of the poppy embryo and after 22 days, the embryos were fully developed into poppy seeds as capable of going through the life cycle of their kind as seeds produced by the living plant.

The scientists had "controls," of course—that is poppy plants germinating and maintaining new life in the way natural to poppies. Their test tube life kept pace with nature in the first stages, the scientists said, but in later stages the test-tube embryonic growth was "quicker and better and even surpassed that in nature."

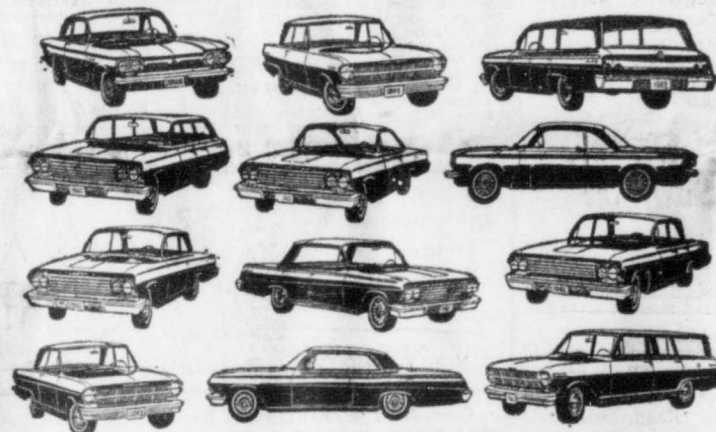

The Indian scientists reported their conquest to the international technical journal, "Nature." So far as they knew and the editors knew, it had never been achieved before and there was no apparent reason why it couldn't be done with almost any variety of flowering plant.

"Test-tube fertilization" needs refinements as a technique, the scientists said. When these refinements are made, plant breeders will be able to manipulate forms of plant life in the laboratory. As an example the scientists pointed to the possibilities of cross-breeding plants in test tubes which in nature can never cross-breed because they are incompatible.

PETITE Jane Renner gets in a few practice chip shots to sharpen her golf game prior to tournament play. She has copped her third trophy in 10 days of golf action.

PETITE SLUGGER

Young Local Golfer Wins Junior Tourney

Jane Renner, Palm Springs' nine-year-old tournament golfer, picked up her third trophy in 10 days when she won the 10-and-under girls' championship in the fifth annual Hesperia Junior Golf Tourney. The petite slugger shot the same score as the winner of the Pee Wee Boys' division.

A week earlier, at Newport Beach, Jane had finished second in the annual Irvine Coast Invitational. She had won this same tournament as an eight-year-old, but failed in her bid to make it two in a row.

The day after the Newport event, 140 of the Southland's touring juniors converged upon Palm Springs for the Antelope Valley Invitational. In this meet, the Pee Wee boys and girls were placed in the same flight. The Palm Springs "miss" finished three strokes off the pace, in the runner-up spot behind Jeff Anway, a 10-year-old boy from San Bernardino.

Jane, who plays her summer practice rounds at Laguna Beach Country Club, has lived in Palm Springs for seven years, and has literally grown up on the lush desert golf courses that dot the resort area. Since she hit the tournament trail, a year ago, she has encountered just one opponent who was younger than she. She feels that if she sticks with the junior tour long enough, she will outgrow the reputation of being the "pee wee of the Pee Wees."

PRESIDENT REPORTS

Physical Fitness of U.S. Youth Frightening

NEW YORK (UPI)—President Kennedy, in a copyrighted story in this week's Sports Illustrated Magazine, declared that one-quarter of America's school children are unable to pass the most minimal fitness tests.

Writing his second article for the magazine on the state of the nation's physical fitness, Kennedy made public a report from Bud Wilkinson, Oklahoma football coach and director of the President's physical fitness program, on what he termed the "frightening" condition of America's youth.

"Never in history," Kennedy wrote, "has the United States been represented by a more gifted group of athletes in national and international competition. Yet we must not allow our pride in these few men to obscure the fact that over the past decades the level of our citizenry has been far below any reasonable national standard."

Kennedy pointed to the great reliance placed on the strength and vigor of the individual in the ancient Greek empire, as well as in the birth of our own nation, and he quoted Disraeli as saying: "The health of the people is really the foundation upon which all their happiness and all their powers as a state depend."

Full Sports Program at College of The Desert

A complete agenda of sports activities awaits the 450 students who will be attending the new College of The Desert when the portals are officially opened this fall, according to Athletic Director Bill Johnson. In addition to a seven game pigskin schedule, with three of them only tentative at this writing, there is also to be a six game soccer schedule commencing in October.

Don Burson, highly successful Indio High School mentor, will be handling the gridiron charges and it is to be presumed that many of his own championship Rajahs will be in the fold. They report for physicals and indoctrination on September 10.

The college athletes from Palm Desert will be competing in the Desert Conference, however it will be another year before Palo Verde

College in Blythe, Barstow College in Barstow and Victor Valley College in Victorville will be up to top strength.

Johnson reports that the college will also participate in basketball, track, baseball, swimming, tennis, golf and archery. The pools, athletic fields and tennis courts are to be ready for play when school opens. They will not, however, play any games on the football field this year, with the possible exception of their final game against Imperial Valley. A gymnasium is to be constructed for use during the second or third year.

Burson's gridders are scheduled to demonstrate their skills in the following practice games.

September 26—Pomona College Frosh at Pomona (tentative).

October 6—Imperial Valley at El Centro.

October 12—U. of Cal Riverside JV at Riverside.

October 16—Chaffey JV at Chaffey.

October 27—Cal Western U. at San Diego (tentative).

October 31—Imperial Valley JC at home.

Golfing with ALEX MORRISON Teacher of Champions

Paul Harney is one of many touring veterans still scoring low enough to win tournaments.

JACK BURKE Jr. commented on a recent tournament victory:

"Yes, I won, but it wasn't by good playing."

We were talking about many things that can influence final results on the course. These include numerous items of playing technique, playing conditions and luck.

Awareness of the number and kinds of these items often confuses and frustrates the touring pro.

At least a dozen veterans like Paul Harney are currently scoring as well as they were in winning two or more events each year. Why aren't they winning now? Mainly because they are not enjoying the particular combination of things that affords first place.

No player can tell beforehand when or where this combination will hold for him. For some players it happens only once. Players with good approximations of the Correct Swing experience it many times for many years.

Mike Cook Wins 1st in Swim Event

Nine-year-old Michael Cook won the first place trophy for 100 yard individual event in a record time of 1:22.5 at the Inland Empire Invitational swimming meet at Cutler Park Pool in Riverside.

At the same meet last year, he set three pool records. This year, he is competing at the bottom of the age group, yet he tied a pool record with his 17.7 first place in the 25-yard back crawl.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Cook of 71-914 San Jacinto Dr. in Rancho Mirage, he is coached by Mrs. Pearl Miller and swims with the Riverside Swim Club during the summer.

Pirates Defeat Elks, 7-1

Jay Mead hurled a one-hitter for the Pirates as he pitched his teammates into second place with a 7-1 win over the B.P.O. Elks at the Polo Grounds.

Mead gave up his only hit in the fourth inning when Carlos Reyes singled into center field. The only Elks run was scored by Paul Payne in the seventh inning when he reached first on an error and after reaching third scored on a passed ball.

The Pirates scored all their seven runs in the fourth inning as Jack Frost, Bill Bradley and Sam Alexander connected for hits and aided by an Elks miscue.

Boys' Club All-Stars Win Two at San Diego

All-Star baseball players on the Pony and Keystone league teams displayed too much power for the Linda Vista Boys' Club of San Diego as they took both ends of a doubleheader, 10-4, and 22-2.

In the first game, the Pony players won a thriller as John Parsons blasted a single to score two teammates in the second inning. The Linda Vista club had crossed the plate three times in the first inning and were leading, 3-2, going into the fourth inning.

First baseman Carl Bernough tied the score in the fourth inning when he reached first on an error, stole second and third and dashed home on a passed ball.

The big blow of the game came in the sixth inning when catcher Dick Brubaker blasted a grand slam home run over the left fielders' head. The local boys scored seven runs in the sixth frame.

Snead Low Golfer at Scotland

Fires 3-Under Par in First Qualifying Round

TROON, Scotland (UPI)—They begin separating the men from the boys in the British Open golf championship today with defending champion Arnold Palmer and U.S. Open king Jack Nicklaus among 17 Yanks battling to gain berths in the tournament proper beginning Wednesday.

Old gaffer Sammy Snead, the 50-year-old veteran of the American professional tour, had the best American qualifying round—a sparkling three-under-par 69—Monday and appeared a sure bet to be among the field of 120 which tees off in the first round of the tourney proper on Wednesday.

However, Palmer, the 2-1 choice from Latrobe, Pa., and Nicklaus, the bright Yank rookie pro from Columbus, Ohio, had to improve considerably today or face elimination. Both shot four-over-par 76's in Monday's first qualifying round over the tough Troon course. Today, both play at near-by Loch Green along with Snead, Don Essig III of Indianapolis, Ind., and Phil Rodgers and world seniors champion Paul Runyan of La Jolla, Calif.

Essig and Rodgers had 75s while Runyan had a 76 Monday. Gene Littler of Singing Hills, Calif., had the next best American score Monday—a 37-34—71 at Loch Green, which is shorter and easier than the Troon course. Only Troon will be used for the two 18-hole rounds on Wednesday and Thursday and the windup 36-hole round on Friday.

Bill Johnson, a U.S. tournament pro from Phoenix, Ariz., had a 38-34—72 in the opening qualifying round—also at Loch Green—while Richard Davies of Pasadena, Calif., the 1962 British Amateur Champion, shot a 38-36—74 at the same course.

Other Scores
John Hardy of Bakersfield, Calif., and Tom Fraser of Washington, D.C., also had 75's Monday while William Castleman Jr. of White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., shot a 78 (Loch Green), MacGregor Hunter of Los Angeles a 79 (Loch Green), Jack Isaacs of Langley Field, Va. an 80 (Troon), Willie Hunter Jr. of Los Angeles an 80 (Loch Green), Herbert Hartwig, a retired Air Force officer from St. Louis, an 85 (Loch Green), and Paul Hardin of Durham, N.C., a 93 (Troon).

Ace Scored by Marvin Weiss May Win Trip

A hole-in-one scored by Marvin Weiss of 1135 Deepwell Road Palm Springs may earn him a trip to Scotland for two and $1,000 by getting his ace at the O'Donnell Golf Course, Weiss was entered in the national Old Smugger Hole-In-One Sweepstakes.

The winner will be announced at the end of the year.
